Table of Contents

Part 1: The Epidemiology of Obesity
1. Prevalence and trends in childhood obesity, Tim Lobstein
2. Prevalence and trends in adult obesity in affluent countries, Jacob C. Seidell
3. Physical health consequences of child and adolescent obesity, John J. Reilly, Kerry-Anne Houston-Callaghan, Zoe Donaghey and Shaza Hammed
4. Health consequences of overweight and obesity in adults, Michael Lean
5. Psychosocial issues in obese children and adults, Andrew J. Hill
6. Health economic burden of obesity - an international perspective, Falk Muller-Riemenschneider, Thomas Reinhold, Adrian von Schulze-Achterhoff and Stefan N Willich

Part 2: The Drivers of the Obesity Epidemic
7. The role of nutrition and physical activity in the obesity epidemic, Lisa J. Harnack and Kathryn H. Schmitz
8. The role of socio-cultural factors in the obesity epidemic, Kylie Ball and David Crawford
10. The implications of the nutrition transition for obesity in the developing world, Barry M. Popkin

Part 3: The Existing Evidence Regarding Prevention
11. Population approaches to promote healthful eating behaviors, Simone A. French
12. Population approaches to increasing physical activity and reducing sedentary behaviors among children and adults, Jo Salmon and Abby King
13. Population approaches to obesity prevention, Jennifer A. Linde and Robert W. Jeffery
14. The role of surgical, pharmacological, and other treatment options, Kelliann K. Davis and John M. Jakicic
15. The cost-effectiveness of obesity prevention, Rob Carter and Marj Moodie

Part 4: Potential Approaches to Prevention
17. The role of parents in preventing child overweight and obesity: an ecological approach, Karen Campbell, Kylie Hesketh, and Kirsten Krahnstoever Davison
18. The potential for policy initiatives to address the obesity epidemic: a legal perspective from the United States, Ellen J. Fried
19. The potential of food regulation as a policy instrument for obesity prevention in developing countries, Mark Lawrence
20. What role can taxes, planning, and transportation policy play in the prevention of obesity? Tim G Townshend
21. Can fiscal approaches help to reduce obesity risk?, Eric A. Finkelstein and Thomas J. xuyên
22. Social marketing approaches to obesity prevention, Zephyr Teachout and Frances Christie
23. Community interventions and initiatives to prevent obesity, Carolyn Summerbell and Frances Hillier
24. The food and beverage industry’s efforts regarding obesity prevention, Zephyr Teachout, Suzanne Hassid, and Danielle Greenberg
25. The need for courageous action to prevent obesity, Marlene B. Schwartz and Kelly D. Brownell

26. Conclusion: Obesity and its prevention in the 21st century, David Crawford, Kylie Ball, Robert W. Jeffery and Johannes Brug