Table of Contents

Pt. I. Initial orientation
  Ch. 1. Introduction
  Ch. 2. Electroacupuncture East and West: the historical context

Pt. 2. Scientific and clinical foundations
  Ch. 3. Electromagnetism and vibration: concepts and terminology
  Ch. 4. Electroacupuncture in context: the effects of electrotherapy
  Ch. 5. Neurophysiology, acupuncture points and meridians: Western and Eastern perspectives
  Ch. 6. How electroacupuncture works I: Observations from experimental and animal studies
  Ch. 7. How electroacupuncture works II: Gathering the threads - from observations to mechanisms and models

Does electroacupuncture work? Evaluating the controlled trials
  Adrian White

Ch. 9. Acupuncture in clinical practice: an overview
  9.1. Psychological and nervous conditions
  Stroke and cerebrovascular disease
    John L. Stump, David F. Mayor, Pekka J. Pontinen
  Peripheral motor disorders, the immune system and the endocrine system
    Steven K. H. Aung, J. Gordon Gadsby, Lynnae Schwartz
  Disorders of the skin and hair, eye and ear, nose, throat and mouth
    Goto Kamiya, Ron Sharp
  Obstetrics, gynaecology and the breast
    Sarah Budd
  9.6. The cardiovascular system
  The respiratory system
    Josephine Cerqua, David F. Mayor
  The gastrointestinal system, liver, gall bladder and pancreas
    David F. Mayor, Lyndsey A. Taylor
  The genitourinary tract
    Josephine Cerqua, David F. Mayor

Pain and its treatment
  Mike Cummings
  Neurogenic pain - head and facial pain - neck pain
    Jennifer Chu, Stuart Ferraris, Maureen Lovesey, Juliette Lowe, Ron Sharp
  Musculoskeletal conditions: an integrated approach
    Pekka J. Pontinen, Steven K. H. Aung
  Acupuncture anaesthesia
    Mark Bovey, Lynnae Schwartz
  Postoperative pain
    David F. Mayor, Michael W. Flowerdew
  Addiction
    Ann Brownbill, David F. Mayor, Rodney S. Robinson
  9.16. Appetite regulation and weight control

Pt. 3. Technology and practice
  Ch. 11. Tools of the trade
  Ch. 12. Practicalities and precautions: the basic do’s and don’ts
  Ch. 13. Developing an integrated approach
  Ch. 14. Conclusion, and the view ahead

App. 1. Resources: information, organisations and suppliers
App. 2. Technology in practice: assessment, legislation and insurance