"Private Speech, Executive Functioning, and the Development of Verbal Self-Regulation"

Winsler, George

Table of Contents

Preface Laura Berk
Introduction/Overview Adam Winsler, Charles Fernyhough and Ignacio Montero
Part I. Overview, Theoretical, and Biological Foundations: 1. Still talking to ourselves after all these years: a review of current research on private speech Adam Winsler
2. Dialogic thinking Charles Fernyhough
3. The executive functions of language in preschool children Ulrich Müller, Sophie Jaques, Karin Brocki and Philip David Zelazo
4. The neuropsychology of covert and overt speech: implications for the study of private speech in children and adults Simon Jones
6. Private speech and theory of mind: evidence for developing functional relations Charles Fernyhough and Elizabeth Meins
7. Development of communicative competence through private and inner speech Peter Feigenbaum
8. Private speech in the framework of referential communication Conchi San Martín Martínez, Humbert Boada and Maria Forns Santacana
9. Preschool children's awareness and theory of speech Louis Manfra
10. Younger children's knowledge about overt and covert private speech John Flavell and Adrian A. Wong
Part III. Symbols and Tools Throughout the Lifespan: 11. Private pointing and private speech: development of executive function Begoña Delgado, Juan Carlos Gómez and Encarnación Samiá
12. Symbols as tools in the development of executive function Stephanie Carlson and Danielle M. Beck
13. On the persistence of private speech: empirical and theoretical considerations Robert M. Duncan and Donato Tartulli
14. Private speech beyond childhood: testing the developmental hypothesis José Sánchez-Medina, David Alarcón Rubio and Manuel de la Mata
Part IV. Motivational and Educational Applications: 15. Private speech and motivation: the role of language in a sociocultural account of motivational processes David J. Atencio and Ignacio Montero
16. Creativity and private speech in young children C. Stephen White and Martha Daugherty
17. Early childhood teacher's awareness, beliefs, and practices toward children's private speech Carla Deniz
Afterword James Wertsch.