Forensic Pathology Reviews

Tsokos, Michael

Table of Contents

Series introduction
Preface
Contributors
Morphological findings in burned bodies
  Michael Bohnert
Kicking and trampling to death: pathological features, biomechanical mechanisms, and aspects of victims and perpetrators
  Veronique Henn, Eberhard Lignitz
Timing of cortical contusions in human brain injury: morphological parameters for a forensic wound-age estimation
  Roland Hausmann
Central nervous system alterations in drug abuse
  Andreas Buttner, Serge Weis
A forensic pathological approach to sudden cardiac death
  Vittorio Fineschi, Cristoforo Pomara
Medicolegal problems with neonaticide
  Roger W. Byard
Diagnostic and medicolegal problems with sudden infant death syndrome
  Roger W. Byard, Henry F. Krous
Fatal respiratory tract infections with mycoplasma pneumoniae: histopathological features, aspects of postmortem diagnosis, and medicolegal implications
  Michael Tsokos
Pathological features of Waterhouse-Friderichsen syndrome in infancy and childhood
  Jan P. Sperhake, Michael Tsokos
Accidental autoerotic death: a review on the lethal paraphiliac syndrome
  Stephan Seidl
Lethal hypothermia: paradoxical undressing and hide-and-die-syndrome can produce very obscure death scenes
  Markus A. Rothschild
Pathological features of maternal death from HELLP syndrome
  Michael Tsokos
Injuries resulting from resuscitation procedures
  Mario Darok
Postmortem alcohol interpretation: medicolegal considerations affecting living and deceased persons
  Donna M. Hunsaker, John C. Hunsaker III
Iliopsoas muscle hemorrhage presenting at autopsy
  Elisabeth E. Turk
Index