Table of Contents

Contents

1. Introduction
   An Ambitious Agenda
   Scientific
   Comprehensive
   Explanatory
   Psychology of ...
   Religion
   A New Direction
   Attachment Theory
   Evolutionary Psychology
   The Plan of This Book

2. Introduction to Attachment Theory
   Backdrop
   The Attachment System
   Other Related Systems
   The Phenomenology of Attachment
   Individual Differences in Attachment in Childhood
   Multiple Attachment Figures
   Internal Working Models and the Stability of Attachment Patterns
   Attachment in Adulthood
   Attachment and Adult Romantic Relationships
   Individual Differences in Adult Romantic Attachment
   Factorial and Dimensional Models
   The Formation and Development of Adult Love Bonds
   An Alternative Approach to Adult Attachment
   Attachment and Evolutionary Psychology
   Summary and Conclusions

3. God as an Attachment Figure
   Religion as Relationship
   But Is It Really an Attachment Relationship?
   Seeking and Maintaining Proximity to God
   Proximity in Belief and Myth
   Facilitating Psychological Proximity
   Prayer
   Other Religious Behaviors
   God as a Haven of Safety
   Crisis and Distress
   Illness and Injury
   Death and Grieving
   God as a Secure Base
   Phenomenology
   Psychological Outcomes
   Responses to Separation and Loss
   Summary and Conclusions

4. More on Religion as an Attachment Process: Some Extensions and Limitations
   Religion and Love
   What Kind of Love?: Romantic Attachment versus Attachment to God
   God as a Parental Figure
   Individual Differences in Images of God
   God as a Benevolent Caregiver
   God as Controlling and Demanding
   Children's Beliefs about God
   Beyond God: Extensions and Limitations
   To Generalize, or Not to Generalize?
   The Problem with Parsimony
   Other Forms of Attachment (or Not) in Religion
   Relationships with Other Supernatural Beings
   Relationships with Religious Leaders
Problems with the Religion-as-Innate View
The Problem of Identifying the Adaptive Function
Psychological vs. Reproductive Benefits
Group Selection vs. Selfish Genes
Costs vs. Benefits
Begging Questions
The Problem of Identifying the Design
The Problem of Establishing Special Design
Theoretical Conservatism and the Onus of Proof
Religion as an Evolutionary By-product, Not an Adaptation
Adaptations vs. Evolutionary By-products
Religion as an Evolutionary By-product
An Analogy: Games and Sports
Summary and Conclusions

10. Beyond Attachment: Religion and Other Evolved Psychological Mechanisms
Power, Status, and Intrasexual Competition
 Supernatural Beings as Power Figures
 Human Religious Leaders as Power Figures
 Kinship
 Supernatural Beings and Religious Leaders as Kin
 Ingroup Members as Kin
 Reciprocal Altruism and Social Exchange
 Supernatural Beings as Social-Exchange Partners
 Mutual Helping and Social Support
 Morality and Ethics
 Coaltional Psychology
 In-Group Cooperation and Morality
 Out-Group Discrimination and Conflict
 Supernatural Beings as Coalitional Partners
 Summary and Conclusions

11. The Cognitive Origins of Religious Belief
 Evolved Mechanisms for Thinking about the Natural World
 Naive Physics and Psychological Animism
 Naive Biology and Natural Kinds
 Naive Psychology and Theory of Mind
 The Psychology of Complex Thinking: How the Mind Works
 The Cognitive Building Blocks of Religious Belief
 Animism
 Psychological Essentialism
 Anthropomorphism
 W